

"Desktop"

Trail	Trail Length	Difficulty	Rating	Cost	Distance
Old Rag Mountain	9.4 Miles	★ ★ ★ ★ ★	★ ★ ★ ★ ★	20$	63 Miles

Annotations with arrows point to various elements:

- An arrow points to the "Trails Near Me" button with the text: "Button to display trails near you (uses location API to find your location)".
- An arrow points to the "Search by location and name of trail" search fields with the text: "Search by location and name of trail".
- An arrow points to the "More Details" button with the text: "Link to page with extended details about hike".
- An arrow points to the green "Main display box" with the text: "Main display box".
- An arrow points to the "Box will expand and collapse with more trails" section with the text: "Box will expand and collapse with more trails".
- An arrow points to the "Maybe make better logo later" placeholder with the text: "Maybe make better logo later".

"Mobile"

The diagram illustrates the TrailFinder mobile application interface. At the top, a green header bar contains the title "TrailFinder" in large white letters. To the left of the title is a button labeled "Trails Near Me". Below the header are two search input fields: "Search By Location:" with a placeholder "Location" and "Search By Trail Name:" with a placeholder "Trail". A callout arrow points from the text "Search by location and name of trail" to the "Trail Name" search field. The main content area below the header is divided into two horizontal sections. The top section is a dark green box containing the words "Trail" and "Length". The bottom section is a light green box containing the text "Old Rag Mountain 9.4 Miles" and a "More Details" button. A callout arrow points from the text "More of the details would be kept in the extended version for the Mobile version" to the "More Details" button. The entire content area is set against a light yellow background.
